About Khenchen Sherab Sangpo Rinpoche

Khenchen Sherab Sangpo Rinpoche was born in the Dokham region of Tibet. From an early age, he studied Tibetan, memorized Buddhist scriptures, and aspired to pursue the monastic path of Buddhist study and practice.

In the Tibetan regions of Dokham, he studied and practiced both the sūtra and tantra teachings under a number of renowned Dzogchen masters, including His Holiness Khenchen Pema Tsewang Rinpoche and His Holiness Khenchen Jigmé Phuntsok Rinpoche (the Wish-Fulfilling Jewel), as well as other eminent spiritual teachers.

After many years of study and contemplation of sūtra and tantra scriptures and treatises, together with retreat practice, he received the Khenpo degree and the qualification of Vajrācārya (Vajra Master) from the retreat center of Pukang Monastery (the Retreat Center for the Practices of the Generation and Completion Stages) and from the Arizha Buddhist Institute (the Institute for the Flourishing of the Teaching and Practice of the Definitive Meaning). These credentials certify qualifications in teaching the Buddhist sūtras and tantras and in providing guidance in their actual practice.

Through his innate wisdom and extensive, diligent training in study and practice, Khenchen Sherab Sangpo Rinpoche is not only thoroughly versed in Buddhist doctrine and its meaning, but also possesses extensive experience in actual practice.

Today, he teaches the Buddhadharma throughout the world for the benefit of sentient beings. He also serves as a practice and meditation instructor at Bodhicitta Sangha in Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA.
